I think that, generally, Republicans are more hypocritical. I think this because they sometimes think the rules only apply to others. They go on and on about family values, then have affairs and sex scandals.

Democrats. They try to act less shitty than they are, while republicans just are just transparently shitty.
user2

But yeah, you're right about the repubs too
user2

Lol, yeah, I can see that. Republicans, however, are constantly preaching about the value of life especially when it comes to a fetus, but then refuse to actually help people after they are born.
