I think Republicans are more hypocritical because they accuse Democrats of things they are guilty of.

I do not have enough expertise of observation to say. I can say that I have heard democrats are more hypocrytical but thats just what ive heard other people say. I want to say republicans because it seems they will say what they have to when they have to to move on.

They definitely do the same things they blame dems for thats true.

I think that the more communication between the two parties the less room there will be for this kind of behavior.

True. I believe that when Trump was in office Republicans wanted to quickly move and approve a judge but now that Biden is in office they want to delay.

Yes I can see that clearly. They seems to say, no we don't work for you. Having the positions they do and thinking that way is hypocritical.
