I think most individuals in politics are hypocritical.
user1

Agree with your statement completely. I think it varies depending on the time, might lean towards republicans being more hypocritical due to them not in control at federal level.
user2

Agree though that most in politics are hypocritical, talking out both sides of their mouths.
user2

I feel as though they are still pretty equal when republicans are in control at federal level as well.
user1

Everyone wants to make things sound good and gather everyone's support but it seems like there often isn't follow through on any sides.
user1

I assume most start out with good intentions but when you see how the sausage is made you have to play along to stay in.
user2

I guess that's a good point.
user1

I will say I think i may be turning the tide on JD Vance. He does seem to speak his mind even though I don't agree with him. I still don't like the fact he has cozied up with Trump but he is being outspoken compared to the republican party.
user2

I have no idea who that is lol
user1

lol, he wrote that hillbilly elegy book, running for senate in Ohio.
user2

I know nothing about it. I probably don't know as much as I should about politics.
user1

Would you say Biden has been hypocritical on any issues as president?
user2

Again I probably haven't followed as closely as I should.
user1

Nothing stands out to me though
user1

yeah, i can't think of anything specific either.
user2

Can you think of anything specific for Trump/
user1

?*
user1

Calling the election unfair then going to Georgia for campaign rallies. Guess some actions vs words
user2