Republicans. They think hateful, unpatriotic attitudes are fine if it's a Republican behaving that way. But they think Democrats are horrible if they act the same way.
user1

Republicans are definitely more hypocritical. They claim they want small government, but are obsessed with what people do in their private lives. From who people marry to what people believe to what people do with their bodies; Republicans are obsessed with forcing their theocratic views on everyone in this country.
user2