I believe Republicans are way more hypocritical than Democrats
user1

For example most of their view points are based on a version of Christianity
user1

Is anyone else here?
user1

I would have to agree. I think this may be a function of them being all over the place. One day they love Putin and the next day they try to claim they oppose him.
user2

Yes that's a good example
user1

The Christianity example is probably more classic. Relious hypocrisy is an old theme. The Putin thing is more of a consequence of the age of Trump.
user2

They all sudden support the Ukraine President but many forget he's the reason that lead into the trump impeachment
user1