The timer is ticking down but I do not see that there is another participant here for me to have my chat.

I definitely fine Republicans to be far more hypocritical than Democrats. These are people who screech from the rafters about how 'pro-life' they are while letting actual living, breathing children die at the hands of crazed gunmen because they contiously block sensible gun laws.
user2

Additionally, they are constantly on about how they're so pro-family and pro-Christianity while conducting themselves in the most inappropriate manner possible.
user2

I feel that Republicans are the most hypocritical because they want to ban abortion and force women to have unwanted babies but they don't care what happens to those babies once they are born. They don't want to spend money for welfare programs or government funding for housing for these children.
user1

Hi, I'm Purnie btw.
user2

Hi, I'm Kade. I agree with you on that. They want to keep guns in the hands of everyone because they honestly do not seem to care about the children once they are born.
user1

I agree completely! They want to criminalize abortion, but give no thought to those children who will be born into poor situations. We don't have the infrastructure in place to take care of children that are here now, languishing in awful foster care situations.

Nice to meet you, Kade.

I don't even understand the need for automatic assault weapons. To them, it seems to be a 'just because we can,' situation. No founding father envisioned weapons that could mow down a classroom full of people in minutes when the Second Amendment was added.s
user2

I have asked people on social media who identified as Republicans how many children they were willing to adopt once abortions became illegal. I have asked them how much they were willing to pay in extra taxes to fund the development of these children but none of them ever answer.
user1

I agree on that too. I can't imagine why these weapons are even allowed to exist in the hands of people who are not actively fighting a war on the ground. Send them all to the Ukraine so they will have an easier time of it.
user1

Yeah, it's always crickets when asking about who will take care of all these children when they get here. I guess they'll find a way to criminalize women who aren't able to find suitable adoptive homes for the babies they were forced to have.
user2

Exactly. I say send the owners along with the weapons if they want to play war so badly.
user2

Wars are another reason I can't reconcile Republican 'pro-life positions.' They will send people to die needlessly in a war of aggression, but still want to hold onto the mantle of being 'pro-life.'
user2

I'm sure they will. And next will be the remaining civil liberties that we currently have. It will be illegal for gay people to marry, illegal for people of color to marry white people. They are going after books now too and that makes me angry. We already have a big problem in this country with people not being educated at all.
user1

The book banning makes my blood boil. It's so 1989!
user2

That's an excellent idea to send the gun owners with the weapons!
