I think that Republicans are more hypocritical.
user1

I think that Republicans are definitely more hypocritical.
user2

They calin to be pro-life but are for the death penalty, against gun control, and against universal healthcare.
user1

It seems that once you are born they don't give a damn about you.
user1

What do you think?
user1

I totally agree. They are also against all the policies that would help improve these problems, as well. I don't understand the logic of banning birth control when your "supposed" goal is to prevent unwanted pregnancies. .
user2

Absolutely.
user1

People are going to have sex, no matter what.
user1

They seem to just hate fun.
user1

They deny climate change as it is happening all around them.
user1

Cruelty seems to be the point with the GOP policies. I wonder if woman who are forced to have children can sue the state for child support?
user2

A lot of women choose to abortion because they can't afford a child.
user2

Those states have minimal social support anyway. Unemployment in Texas is like $250 a month tops.
user1

yikes...that is ridiculous.
user2

I agree. Some people are just too poor or immature to have children.
user1

Those kids will be abused and neglected/
user1

They will grow up to be criminals or unfit parents themselves.
user1

I can't understand why they think it's such a treasure to be born into a family that doesn't want you.
user2

I agree.
user1

People should not be forced to have children they do not want and can't take proper care of.
user1

Which leads us right back to the hypocrisy.... The entire GOP voted against helping with the baby formula issue.
user2

And helping with gas prices
user2

and on and on
user2

They are the ones making all the profit form the oil companies.
user1

They don't care about anything except money and power.
user1