Hello HP
user1

Hi
user2

What political subject were we supposed to chat about?
user1

While I could argue that Democrats and Republicans can be hypocritical, my memories seem a greater number of Republican instances of being hypocritical
user2

The prompt says who is more hypocritical - Democrats or Republicans
user2

Yes, agree with you there. There are kooks on both sides, but I think Republicans are definately more hypocritical.
user1

They claim to be pro-life, but they oppose free school lunches and socialized medicine for children AFTER they're born.
user1

My greatest, my obvious example to me, is that Republicans consider one of their highest priorities to be banning access to abortion arguing that it's to save an unborn babies life yet they are completely anti-socialized help with anything else. Healthcare, social services, etc.
user2

right
user2

They don't care about people
user2

I'd agree with that.
user1

I hear another claim is that they're the 'law and order party', but who took part in the January 6th insurrection?
user1

I also struggle with the general idea that republicans say they want government out of their life decisions ... but it seems to be only when it's convenient that they would actually really like the government involved
user2

yes, quite hypocritical there. They would like to create the law and order themselves in that instance I guess
user2

Yes. They want to decide whom you can marry, who can have birth control, if you can allow your children to be transgender-- but they want government out of people's lives.
user1

They want the government out of their lives... but not yours...?
user2

Quite confusing
user2

Absolutely.
user1