Both parties a very hypocritical. Both are much more conservative than advertised.
user1

I believe Democrats are hypocritical about their policies, which typically makes it more difficult for them to get policies through.
user2

Republicans are hypocritical with their policies as well. The ideology rarely match the applications.
user1

That's true, Republicans definitely speak the narrative, but that doesn't pan out in execution very much (at least not the for people they claim to speak for)
user2