Good afternoon
user1

I think that when it comes to politics, neither side is innocent. Their goal is to get as many people to vote for them as possible and that means not being entirely honest.
user1

Good afternoon
user2

I think that being hypocritical, especially in a position of power, is a dangerous thing to deal with. We need people who stand by what they say and who are going to do the right thing.
user1

I agree with your statement. In addition to that I've seen a lot of republican politicians being more hypocritical.
user2

Changing your mind on topics is a good thing that should be appreciated but acting in a hypocritical matter is pretty poor.
user1

Yeah, it draws a bad picture on anyone, especially on public figures
user2

I think that while democrats have acted in a bit of a hypocritical fashion, I'd have to agree that republicans display this more.
user1

So true. If we can trust people of power to do what they say they are going do, then who can we trust? They need to be hed to a high standard due to this power they wield.
user1

I meant - if we CAN'T trust people of power..
user1

yes, that is my observation too.
user2

I think it takes a lot of guts to be honest and stand by your word in politics when the majority of politicians are doing the opposite of that.
user1