< As you know, Senators and Representatives in Washington regularly have to decide how to vote on issues affecting the country. We'd like to ask you about how you would vote on some of these same issues as well as how you think your representative voted. >

First we'd like to ask about allowing prescription drugs made in other countries to be sold in the United States. Some argue that importing these drugs would lower the high cost of prescription drugs for consumers. Others argue that we can't guarantee they would meet the same standards as American-made drugs.

[drugyou] How about you? If you were faced with this decision, would you vote for or against allowing prescription drugs from other countries to be sold here?

Now we'd like to ask about proposals to ban a type of late-term abortion sometimes called "partial-birth abortion". Some argue that late-term abortion is a barbaric procedure and should be banned. Others argue that late-term abortions are extremely uncommon and used only in exceptional circumstances best determined by a doctor, not the Congress. The proposed legislation could also be the opening to a broader ban on abortion.

[partyou] How about you? If you were faced with this decision, would you vote for or against banning late-term abortion?
 <1/For> For (that is, to ban late-term abortion)
 <2/Against> Against (that is, not to ban late-term abortion)

Now we'd like to ask about proposals to make Iraq pay the US back for the costs of rebuilding the country. Some politicians argue that the work costs too much, and that Iraq has many natural oil resources it could sell to pay off a loan. Others argue that Iraq already faces too much debt and adding to it would make it harder for the country to become free and democratic.

[reconyou] How about you? If you were faced with this decision, would you vote for or against making Iraq pay the US back for rebuilding the country?

< As you know, Senators and Representatives in Washington regularly have to decide how to vote on issues affecting the country. We'd like to ask you about how you would vote on some of these same issues as well as how you think your representative voted. >

First we'd like to ask about allowing prescription drugs made in other countries to be sold in the United States. Some argue that importing these drugs would lower the high cost of prescription drugs for consumers. Others argue that we can't guarantee they would meet the same standards as American-made drugs.

[drugyou] How about you? If you were faced with this decision, would you vote for or against allowing prescription drugs from other countries to be sold here?

Now we'd like to ask about proposals to ban a type of late-term abortion sometimes called "partial-birth abortion". Some argue that late-term abortion is a barbaric procedure and should be banned. Others argue that late-term abortions are extremely uncommon and used only in exceptional circumstances best determined by a doctor, not the Congress. The proposed legislation could also be the opening to a broader ban on abortion.

[partyou] How about you? If you were faced with this decision, would you vote for or against banning late-term abortion?

Now we'd like to ask about proposals to make Iraq pay the US back for the costs of rebuilding the country. Some politicians argue that the work costs too much, and that Iraq has many natural oil resources it could sell to pay off a loan. Others argue that Iraq already faces too much debt and adding to it would make it harder for the country to become free and democratic.

[reconyou] How about you? If you were faced with this decision, would you vote for or against making Iraq pay the US back for rebuilding the country?
