Gender Identity as a Political Cue: Voter Responses to Transgender Candidates

Philip Edward Jones and Paul R. Brewer

Codebook

Study 1 (CCES)

ID	Respondent ID number
weight	CCES weight
expt	Experimental condition (0=control; 1=treatment)
pool.vote	Propensity to vote for Pool pool.ideo	Perception of Pool's ideology
pool.tworthy	How well "trustworthy" describes Pool pool.moral	How well "moral" describes Pool pool.repsyou	How well "represents people like you" describes Pool pool.focus	How well "focuses on important issues" describes Pool pool.authent	How well "authentic" describes Pool
ideo	Respondent ideology
religiosity	Respondent religiosity
pid7	Respondent party ID
auth	Respondent authoritarianism
female	Female respondent
age	Respondent age
white	White respondent
married	Married respondent
income	Respondent household income
educ	Respondent education

Study 2 (MTurk)

ID	Respondent ID number
weight	Weight
expt_conds	All experimental conditions expt	Experimental condition within no party (0=control; 1=treatment) expt_rep	Experimental condition within Republican party (0=control; 1=treatment) expt_dem	Experimental condition within Democratic party (0=control; 1=treatment) expt_non	Experimental condition within no party (0=control; 1=treatment)
pool.vote	Propensity to vote for Pool
pool.ideo	Perception of Pool's ideology
pool.tworthy	How well "trustworthy" describes Pool
pool.moral	How well "moral" describes Pool
pool.repsyou	How well "represents people like you" describes Pool
pool.focus	How well "focuses on important issues" describes Pool
pool.authent	How well "authentic" describes Pool
ideo	Respondent ideology
religiosity	Respondent religiosity
pid7	Respondent party ID
auth	Respondent authoritarianism
female	Female respondent
age	Respondent age
white	White respondent
married	Married respondent
income	Respondent household income
educ	Respondent education
gender.conform	Respondent gender conformity