Brendan Hartnett, Alexandra Haver
PS: Political Science and Politics

Sample: A sample of 1,215 American adults provided by Lucid was interviewed online on October 25, 2020.
Weights: Post-stratification weights are implemented to make each week's sample nationally representative of American adults by gender, age, region, education, race, and 2016 presidential vote. Adult population targets defined using the most recent 5-year American Community Survey. Likely voter weights created using the PGAD approach described here.
