That's actually kinda interesting.

I don't think it's intentional, but Panpour is the only one with closed eyes, Pansage is the only one with an open mouth (though that's counterintuitive regarding "speak no evil"), and Pansear is touching its ear. Nice. :P

Meh.

pansear is hear (touching ear), pansage is speak (open mouth), and panpour is see. (eyes shut) simipour could also be seen as see (eyes shut) and sear as hear (big ears and a "what?" type of expression) simisage losses me, unless the thumbs up is supposed to show an "okay" with no words making him speak.

Panpour has a club tail, Pansage has a heart tail, and Pansear has a spade tail. Playing card refence, missing the diamond.

The Simi trio is also based on western sub-cultures. Pour is Hippie. Sage is maybe punk or biker. Sear could be greaser.

Darumanitan or whatever could be the do no evil in daruma mode. His eyes look pupil less, see. His ears are covered, hear. His mouth is shut, speak.

well, id say that see no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil are kind of like the keys to being a religious man.

hmm...

I have claimed Sveta (from Golden: Sun Dark Dawn) as mine, because she is powerful and attractive.

I guess people see what they wanna see and make up their own assumptions from it even if it's not true. Huge stretch you are making and is unintentional at best

Nah. Just using logic. What are you gonna say next? That cubone is a baby kanga or the black tail Is wobb or that gengar is clefairy? Fan speculation is cute but that's all it is

The connection of the three elemental monkeys to the three wise monkeys was already established a while ago. It's pretty obvious. Now, I don't know about any of the other stuff, but it makes sense that they would tap into a cultural myth for a pokemon cycle.

Tired of photobucket and imageshack? Ask me about dropbox.
