As long as your accept Jesus into your heart it's ok to play Doom 3. And if you feel bad afterwards uninstall it and repent god can't be mad at you forever right?

Even if killing someone in a game is a sin, I think I've balanced it out by how many times I've saved the world in games.

Well fellas i've just beaten Doom 3.

It was a good game and after beating it, and playing Multiplayer for a bit too I don't feel like sinning or praising Satan.

It was a good game. The Single-Player game was longer than I expected, but it was all good. The three main faults in the game are that the enemy A.I. is not much, the level design is bit linear, and the multi-player is nothing special.

Though if you got a strong enough PC you should still buy it.

Ok people. You've read the arguments. Now lets please allow this thread to die and people can form their own opinions. As I see it right now, there is too much anger and hate in this thread. God wants us all to be happy and love each other, despite our defects. Just try to live your life the best you can and remember that Jesus does love you. We all fall short of his glory, and we all have our flaws, but keep in mind that he does want to save and we simply have to try the best we can to receive his grace. But for now, please, lets stop the bickering and hate, it's not healthy and I'm sure the man above doesn't like it either.

I'm 1/3 of the way through Doom 3 and I've only slaughtered and devoured the corpses of three children in my neighborhood.

My gosh but this game is pretty.

In the very first level, that room where the big cannisters if green glowy goop are being tested and casting spotlights on the wall as they spin.....

"Choose again."

Hmmmmm....

I have the game and I'll continue to play it. Other believers can think what they want but what I do is between me and God.

kthxbye!

Jesus...FAIL!
