Control Panel Subscriptions TOS Privacy @NeoGAF Theme

Welcome LAWJ

NeoGAF BELIEVE

Post Reply

GAMING Community OFF-TOPIC Community

Help me to decide whether to finish New Vegas or replay KOTOR 2.

Subscribe

Afrocious
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:14 AM)
Quote

Help me to decide whether to finish New Vegas or replay KOTOR 2. #1

Along with going through Earthbound for the first time in Iwata's memory, I've been contemplating getting into an Obsidian RPG. I have both New Vegas and KOTOR 2.

For New Vegas, I own the ultimate edition with all the DLC. I got as far as the strip and met with Yes Man. Caesar wants to talk to me but I haven't met him yet. I haven't touched the game in about a year. Had a blast with it and the mods I had installed though.

Yet there's KOTOR 2. I want to revisit this game since I last played it when it released on console way back when. I beat it but I don't remember much of it aside from it being a glitchfest and quite deeper than KOTOR 1. I've read articles about the game and all of its nuances and self-reflections on the Star Wars universe. Since I own it on PC now, I could also try the restored content mods. I haven't touched those yet so I dunno how much they add to the experience.

So please help me out! Oh yeah, I'll get to Planescape: Torment eventually :)

Firehead
Adam's Significant Otter
(07-14-2015, 06:15 AM)
Quote

#2

Finish the game you started goddammit.

Skelter
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:17 AM)
Quote

#3

Both games are incredible but Kotor 2 is not only an incredible Star Wars game but an incredible RPG.

Obsidian basically deconstructs Star Wars and everything central to the franchise is questioned. I love the game. Definitely play it with the Restored Content Mod. You'll also get to witness one of the best written characters and woman in a game.

Jigorath
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:19 AM)
Quote

#4

They're both wonderful RPGs. But you already started New Vegas so it's best to finish it and then move on to KOTOR 2.

Afrocious
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:27 AM)
Quote

#5

Figured I'd start up New Vegas. Oh man I have so many quests. I'm wearing Benny's clothes for some reason and Boone's hat. I'm also looking at a bunch of prostitutes. wtf was I doing when I last played this?

Slammin_Hammon
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:29 AM)
Quote

#6

I'd finish New Vegas. They're both great games worth playing. New Vegas will get you hyped for Fallout 4 and KOTOR 2 will remind you that a KOTOR 3 is a very slim possibility.

Afrocious
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:31 AM)
Quote

#7

> Originally Posted by Slammin_Hammon
> I'd finish New Vegas. They're both great games worth playing. New Vegas will get you hyped for Fallout 4 and KOTOR 2 will remind you that a KOTOR 3 is a very slim possibility.

If anything, i think New Vegas will make me more apathetic about Fallout 4.

BocoDragon
or, How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Realize This Assgrab is Delicious
(07-14-2015, 06:32 AM)
Quote

#8

Obsidian really seems to be in the air lately. I didn't really know who they were recently, but I started playing New Vegas, people seem to be lauding that afresh all over the place, and even I was thinking about trying KOTOR2 and South Park.

Firehead
Adam's Significant Otter
(07-14-2015, 06:35 AM)
Quote

#9

> Originally Posted by Afrocious
> Figured I'd start up New Vegas. Oh man I have so many quests. I'm wearing Benny's clothes for some reason and Boone's hat. I'm also looking at a bunch of prostitutes. wtf was I doing when I last played this?

Ave, true to Caesar.

antitrop
does not much care for anti-shooter bias

#10

> Originally Posted by Afrocious

(07-14-2015, 06:36 AM)
Quote

> If anything, i think New Vegas will make me more apathetic about Fallout 4.

At least the shooting will be competent (maybe even good...) in Fallout 4. There's that.

I mean, I'll take good writing over good shootbang, but I'm just sayin'

Slammin_Hammon #11
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:36 AM)
Quote

> Originally Posted by Afrocious
> If anything, i think New Vegas will make me more apathetic about Fallout 4.

I suppose this is a possibility if you are drawn towards New Vegas due to Obsidian being a great rpg developer rather than it being a fallout game. I could see this as I prefer New Vegas to Fallout 3 but love them both enough to be excited for Fallout 4 regardless of developer.

DanielJr82 #12
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:39 AM)
Quote

Finish New Vegas.

Almighty #13
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:39 AM)
Quote

> Originally Posted by Afrocious
> Figured I'd start up New Vegas. Oh man I have so many quests. I'm wearing Benny's clothes for some reason and Boone's hat. I'm also looking at a bunch of prostitutes. wtf was I doing when I last played this?

Sounds like you either were about to have a good time or just got done with one.

Afrocious #14
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:41 AM)
Quote

> Originally Posted by antitrop
> At least the shooting will be competent (maybe even good...) in Fallout 4. There's that.
>
> I mean, I'll take good writing over good shootbang, but I'm just sayin'

That's true. I always figured I'd pick up Fallout 4 when it dropped in price and I got bored. Looks like it'll be a fun game to dick around in, but such games don't last long for me. I couldn't even finish GTAV lol.

> Originally Posted by Slammin_Hammon
> I suppose this is a possibility if you are drawn towards New Vegas due to Obsidian being a great rpg developer rather than it being a fallout game. I could see this as I prefer New Vegas to Fallout 3 but love them both enough to be excited for Fallout 4 regardless of developer.

Eh, not to me. I have little attachment to the world of Fallout and I really just want a good RPG. The voiced protag + dialogue wheel + established family background made me cancel my preorder.

Brakke #15
Member Junior
(07-14-2015, 06:49 AM)
Quote

KOTOR 2 with the restoration mod is a tremendous video game. I lost steam on New Vegas, probably because I'd gone so deep with Fallout 3 it just got old.

Slammin_Hammon
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:52 AM)
Quote

#16

> Originally Posted by Afrocious
> Eh, not to me. I have little attachment to the world of Fallout and I really just want a good RPG. The voiced protag + dialogue wheel + established family background made me cancel my preorder.

Fair enough. Hopefully they keep the protagonist a blank slate despite being voiced and having a presumably dead family.

Another Obsidian rpg I have heard good things about is their last project Pillars of Eternity. I don't know much about it, but it might be up your alley.

UnforgivenTwin
Member
(07-14-2015, 06:52 AM)
Quote

#17

Kotor 2 is one of the best Star Wars stories ever told. It really makes you question who the bad guys are. Jedi or Sith?

7iberius
Junior Member
(07-14-2015, 07:13 AM)
Quote

#18

Fallout 4's announcement motivated me to go back to Fallout: New Vegas, play through it again, and finally play the last 2 DLCs that I never got to. I just finished it all up a week ago, and I rediscovered what an awesome game that is.

There are so many great parts in that huge game: the horror of Vault 11, the Boomers' origin myth, the mysterious other courier, the Black Mountain craziness, the religious ghouls 'ascending to heaven', the street gang of Elvis impersonators, the animate appliances in Big MT, the story of the lone survivalist in Honest Hearts, and a bunch of others.

I think my excitement for Fallout 4 has all but evaporated.

GAMING Community OFF-TOPIC Community TOP

Post Reply

All times are GMT +1. The time now is 04:33 PM. | You last visited: 09-30-2015 at 11:15 AM Contact Us