

RESEARCH ARTICLE :

Constraints faced by onion growers in adopting improved practices and suggestions from onion growers to overcome constraints

■ Vaishnavi Sangam and S.G. Aski

ARTICLE CHRONICLE :

Received :
20.06.2018;

Revised :
03.07.2018;

Accepted :
18.07.2018

SUMMARY : The present study was conducted in Vijayapur district of North-Karnataka during 2017-18. The findings of the study revealed that cent per cent of the respondents faced the constraint of fluctuations in market prices, followed by scarcity and high cost of labour (86.67%), problem of electricity (81.33%), Lack of proper market (78.67%), High commission rates of middle men and commission agents (66.67%). Cent per cent of the respondents suggested that market price should be high, followed by timely input availability at cheaper rate (73.33%), availability of proper market to sell their produce (66.67%), availability of efficient credit facilities to meet crop production expenses (61.33%).

How to cite this article : Sangam, Vaishnavi and Aski, S.G. (2018). Constraints faced by onion growers in adopting improved practices and suggestions from onion growers to overcome constraints. Agric. Update, 13(3): 355-358; DOI : 10.15740/HAS/AU/13.3/355-358. Copyright@2018: Hind Agri-Horticultural Society.

KEY WORDS:

Constraints,
Improved practices,
Onion growers,
Suggestions

Author for correspondence :

S.G. Aski
Department of Agricultural Extension
Education, College of Agriculture, Vijayapura
(Karnataka) India
Email: askisubhash@
gmail.com

See end of the article for authors' affiliations